

I'M GOING TO CALIFORNIA

Items Needed: None

Sit in a circle. The first person says, "My name is Cathy and I'm going to California, and I'm taking a _____." Silently, she pantomimes something she might take along, such as a camera, toothbrush, hat, etc. . The next person in the circle says, "My name is -----(Ted), and I'm going to California with Cathy. We're going to take (what Cathy pantomimed) and _____(what he's going to take)." On around the circle it goes.

Optional: Have each person go someplace different and take something different that begins with their name. Example. "My name is Nola, and I'm going to Nebraska, and I'm going to take a newspaper." The next person says, "My name is Frank, and I'm going to France, and I'm going to take food. Nola is going to Nebraska, and she's going to take a newspaper." Each time a new person starts, he/she must also repeat what all the other people before him/her said.
